GENERAL NEWS

BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.

Enthusiastic Reception of Parnell and Dillon at Chicago.

CHICAGO, Feb 23.—The reception to night of Parnell and Dillon was a spontaneous [illegible]. They arrived at the Michigan Central depot at about 8 o'clock. A long procession, which contained several thousand people in regalia, and supplied liberally with [illegible] and transparencies, escorted them to the exposition building. Admission was 50 [illegible] and reserved seats $1 each, and the capacity of the building was tested to its utmost. It is estimated that 20,000 to 25,000 people were inside. The crowd was so dense and confusion so great, that it was with difficulty that those even in proximity to the [illegible] could hear them. It was [illegible] for late comers to [illegible] enough to the stand to [illegible] words of the speakers and equally [illegible] to get through, into or out of the [illegible] surged and cheered around the [illegible] enthusiasm was unbounded and [illegible] confined to Irish citizens. [illegible] Dillon introduced the speakers [illegible] expression of sympathy for their [illegible] countrymen. Other speakers followed, and Parnell, Dillon and John Murdock, Scotchman, responded. Letters of regret from Senators Blaine and Windom and the governors of several states and about thirty congressmen were [illegible]. The resolutions were strong and denounced in unmeasured terms the British government for its oppression, injustice and [illegible]. The receipts were about $10,000.

Chicago and Alton Road.

[illegible] Feb. 23.—The annual report of the Chicago and Alton railroad for the year [illegible] unwonted prosperity and increase [illegible] and facilities. The gross earnings [illegible] 326,677, of which $4,242,791 was [illegible] and $1,311,708 from passengers. [illegible] gross earnings over 1878 was [illegible] and operating expenses $3,049,520, [illegible] 2,875,134 for 1878. The earnings, [illegible] deducting operating expenses, taxes and [illegible] interest on bonds, rent, losses [illegible] 1,100 per cent on both common and preferred stocks.

New York Headquarters of Western Mines.

NEW YORK, Feb. 23—An article in the [illegible] says: Twenty million dollars [illegible] very low estimate of the amount [illegible] capital invested in western mining [illegible] during the past year. The Fifth [illegible] is the mining rendezvous of [illegible] it is safe to say that one-third [illegible] who throng the main corridor at [illegible] P. M. have mines to sell. Saunter [illegible] crowd and the words "mine," [illegible] "dividend," are heard on all [illegible] of the best proprietors shun [illegible] "No stock for sale," is the controlling sentiment of some companies. [illegible] is supposed by many to [illegible] is simple truth. The stock [illegible] largest mining companies in [illegible] been taken in large blocks for [illegible] only. A dividend of $100,000 declared [illegible] days ago will be paid with fewer [illegible] checks. Large properties have [illegible] sold in lots of not less than [illegible]

His sureties were [illegible] charge of the office and will make [illegible] good. Gen. Adams further investigated the charges against Maj. Glafcke in [illegible] with the Great Western Distributing company and finds them sustained by [illegible] satisfactory to him. Maj. Glafcke is [illegible] of the Cheyenne Leader, in [illegible] commends the recent assaults on the [illegible] of Gov. Hoyt and other citizens [illegible]

Fire at Cleveland.

[illegible] O., Feb. 23.—This afternoon [illegible] fell out of a still containing 2000 [illegible] crude oil at the Standard oil works [illegible]. The oil caught fire and communicated the flames to another still, and [illegible] oil flowed down Kingsbury [illegible] threatening destruction to the Standard [illegible] Five hundred men were put at work [illegible] constructed across the run, confining the fire in narrow limits and saving [illegible]. The loss is estimated at $30,000 on [illegible] and $40,000 on oil.

An Outrage Avenged.

[illegible] TEX., Feb. 23.—An informant [illegible], Cass county, gives the following: [illegible] Clarke, a respectable married [illegible] in the Garry neighborhood, was [illegible] brutally outraged and then murdered. [illegible] men have been arrested. One [illegible]. He was horribly mutilated [illegible] and his clothing saturated with [illegible] set on fire. He was afterwards [illegible]. Intense excitement prevails.

The Cincinnati Walking Match.

[illegible] Feb. 22.—The walking match [illegible] to-night with the following scores: [illegible] Harriman, 434; Guyon, 415; [illegible] 408; Meals, 385; Burkridge, 370; [illegible] 368; Hibbs and Hann out. The [illegible] men claim to have beaten the [illegible] on record in a similar match. The [illegible] to-day and to-night was overwhelming. The receipts to day alone reach nearly [illegible]

WASHINGTON CITY.

Mr. Key Sustained.

[illegible] Feb. 23—The supreme court [illegible] to restrain the postmaster general [illegible] withholding letters for lotteries, etc.

Fitz John Porter's Case.

[illegible] Fitz-John Porter notified Senator [illegible] that he was perfectly willing to allow [illegible] restoring him to the army to go [illegible] session. He does this because [illegible] among leading democrats that [illegible] will be turned against [illegible] party by republicans to its injury.

Atlantic and Pacific Railroad.

[illegible] president of the Atlantic [illegible] R. R. Co., has addressed a [illegible] president of the chamber of [illegible] Francisco, stating that if sufficient [illegible] are offered the company [illegible] through line from Rio Grande, [illegible] San Francisco the terminus. N. F. [illegible] president of the chamber, states [illegible] personally in favor of having the [illegible] the terminus of another trans-continental road, and will probably address a communication to the board of supervisors, [illegible] their attention to the matter, though [illegible] not yet fully decided upon the course [illegible] pursue.

Butler's Position—He Thinks the Democrats should Nominate Field.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Gen. Butler was reported by a member of the national democratic committee as being in full sympathy with the democratic party, and is intending to come out openly in a short time [illegible] declare himself democratic without other affiliations. Your correspondent has [illegible] a talk with Butler, and in reply to a question as to whether he was misrepresented [illegible] in the interview with a member of the democratic committee, Mayor Prince, of [illegible], said: "I do not care anything about the references to myself. I have neither authorized them nor have I any right to repudiate them. I am much more busy about [illegible] suits now than politics, and I have no [illegible] to intrude my views of future prospects on any party or anybody. But it seems to me that if I were to vote for any democrat it would be Judge Field of the supreme court. He stands well before the country, and would carry the Pacific coast, and would be, I should think, adopted by both factions of the party in New York, as being an entirely impartial man, who both could trust to do right by them. I do not know anybody that would be better for the democratic party than Field, for whom I have very high respect in all things, except I am perhaps not fully in accord with his financial views."

Lefevre's Cattle Bill.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—Representative Lefevre's bill for the suppression of infectious and contagious diseases of domesticated animals provides for a board of commissioners to consist of the commissioner of agriculture the secretary of the treasury and the secretary of state, the first named to be president of the board, to call all meetings, and two members to constitute a quorum for business. The president of the board is to receive compensation of one hundred dollars per month in addition to his salary as commissioner of agriculture, the other members of the board to serve without pay. The board shall appoint a secretary and veterinary surgeon. The latter shall superintend, under direction of the commissioner, all measures for the suppression of infectious and contagious diseases of domesticated animals and shall draft such rules and regulations as may be necessary for speedy suppression of outbreak under consideration, and, upon approval by the board of said rules and regulations, the same shall be certified for acceptance to the governor and veterinary surgeon of the state wherein said disease prevails. On notification by the governor of acceptance of the rules and regulations framed by the veterinary surgeon of the board, the latter, together with a veterinary surgeon appointed by the governor of the state, may prepare such rules and regulations as they may deem expedient for the most speedy suppression of the disease, and with such penalties attached as will compel faithful compliance with the same; and on approval by the governor, such rules and regulations shall have all the binding force of law. The sum of $100,000 is appropriated for the purpose of carrying out the provisions of the act.

Tilden's Enemies in Session.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 22.—Members of the New York delegation here to attend the national democratic executive committee tomorrow were in session to-night for the purpose of discussing the political situation. It is understood that the expressed opinion of the meeting opposed the candidacy of any man whom the party cannot harmoniously support. None of Tilden's friends were present.

THE DEMOCRATS IN COUNCIL.

THE CONVENTION TO MEET AT CINCINNATI JUNE 22d

Representative Whiteaker Comes to the Front and "Nominates" Eugene City in a Humorous Speech—General Proceedings.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The national democratic committee assembled in Willard's Hall at 12 o'clock to-day to select a place and appoint a time for holding the national democratic convention. Considerable discussion ensued as to the time to be allowed persons presenting the claims of their respective cities for place of holding the convention, and it was finally agreed to allow twenty minutes, to be divided among three representatives, each delegation to present claims. The roll was then called for the purpose of ascertaining the number of cities desirous of presenting claims for holding the convention. W. H. Goudy, of Illinois, named Chicago; Outerbridge Horsey, of Maryland, Baltimore; John G. Priest, of Missouri, St. Louis; John G. Thompson, of Ohio, Cincinnati; W. T. Scott, of Pennsylvania, Philadelphia; Austin H. Brown, of Indiana, Washington City; and John Whiteaker, of Oregon, Eugene City, Oregon.

At 12:45 P. M. recess was taken until 2:30.

In submitting resolutions for holding the convention McHenry, of Kentucky, moved to fix the date on Tuesday, June 22d.

Priest, of Missouri, moved to amend by inserting Wednesday, June 15th; lost.

Eaton, of Kansas, moved to amend by inserting the third Tuesday in May.

The amendments being both rejected, the original resolution of McHenry was agreed upon.

The following proxies were present: Mississippi, A. B. Hart; California, Senator Farley; Nevada, J. W. Corkle; Colorado, Hugh Butler; Virginia, John T. Lovell; Wisconsin, Representative E. S. Bragg; Texas, Representative Columbus Upson.

M. W. Fuller presented Chicago's claim. She had a hall of fine quality capable of seating 10,000 and standing room for 10,000 more. The citizens would defray the transportation and board expenses of each member of the committee and his family. Twenty-three leading hotels would not increase their rates. The air was pure and the temperature equable.

Col. Dorsey presented Baltimore and ex-Mayor Brown, St. Louis. He thought, Missouri being a doubtful state, that St. Louis should have the convention. St. Louis was centrally situated, with abundant facilities of all kinds. There would be no advance of hotel rates and the committee would defray all expenses deemed proper.

Sayler eloquently invited the committee to Cincinnati, which had advantages over other cities—Music Hall, with a capacity of 4500 seats and an entertaining capacity of 75,000. Cincinnati would bear all the expenses of the convention. As Cincinnati had named the man in 1876, it would name him in 1880.

Eugene City, Oregon, was advocated by Whiteaker in a very humorous speech. He said that there were no artificial facilities to be had in Eugene City, but members could find excellent camping grounds and advised them to bring a good supply of blankets.

Wm. L. Scott invited the committee to Philadelphia. Centennial hall was a proper building; it would hold 30,000 people. Other attractions were great, and there was no city on God's footstool which so much needed the convention to enlighten and civilize it.

Stetson and Hutchins advocated Washington.

An informal ballot resulted: Cincinnati 14, Chicago 10, St. Louis 4, Washington 4, Baltimore 2, Philadelphia, Jackson, Miss., Eugene City, Ogn., and blank one each. A formal ballot resulted: Cincinnati 29, Chicago 8, St. Louis 4, Washington and blank 1 each. The selection of Cincinnati was made unanimous.

A committee was appointed to confer with the Cincinnati committee on arrangements. There was some discussion about harmonizing New York factions, but no result was arrived at. The committee will prepare a call to morrow.

MATTERS IN COMMITTEE.

A Vote-catching Proposition from the Foreign Affairs Committee—Valentine's Bill, Etc., Etc.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.—The house committee on foreign affairs instructed its chairman to-day to report favorably to the house a resolution making an appropriation to relieve the suffering people of Ireland. The resolution was amended by the committee increasing the appropriation from $1,000,000, the amount originally proposed, to $3,000,000.

The house committee on public lands has agreed to report favorably to the house of representatives Valentine's bill for the relief of settlers upon public lands. It provides that when a pre-emption, homestead or timber culture claimant shall file a written relinquishment of his claim in a local land office, the land covered by such claim shall be held as open to settlement and entry without further action on the part of the commissioner. The general land office committee instructed their chairman to ask suspension of the rules to secure passage by the house of a resolution providing for the appointment of a committee to inquire into and investigate the acts of the Hot Springs commission.

The bill introduced in the house by Representative Vance, of North Carolina, to amend the internal revenue laws, and to prevent abuses in the administration of justice in the courts of the United States, provides that on the conviction of any persons for illicit sales of spirituous liquors or unlawful manufacture of the same, the district judge shall have power to punish at his discretion by fine or imprisonment or both; that no single violation of the laws shall be an indictable offense, but only where the accused is guilty of repeated acts of sale for money or profit. It also provides that no marshal or deputy shall have power to bring defendants before any other U. S. commissioner than in the county where the offense is committed; that no marshal or deputy shall have power to arrest any party accused of illicit distillation or unlawful retailing of spirituous liquors without a warrant endorsed by a creditable witness, stating that he knows or has good reason to believe that the law has been violated; and further, that no attorney prosecuting for the United States in federal courts can enter an indictment and prosecute the same against any person for violation of internal revenue laws upon mere information; but the indictment must first be submitted to a grand jury who shall pass upon the same.

The house committee on coinage, weights and measures have directed their chairman, Representative Stephens, to present to the house a bill providing for the establishment of an assay office in Arizona.

Before the senate exodus committee, P. R. McCorkey, a life long resident of Terre Haute, Indiana, and a republican, testified to a surplus of laborers and mechanics in his section of the state. He swore that colored Mail Agent Walker, in conversation with him at Terre Haute, said that at Nashville last autumn he (Walker) had made arrangements to run 10,000 colored voters into Indiana to carry the state for the republicans.

The house committee on appropriations held a meeting for the purpose of considering the star route service and decided that some action must be taken immediately. The sub committee which has been engaged for several weeks investigating the star route service was instructed to report at once to the full committee, with a recommendation as to whether a deficiency appropriation be made, and for what amount. The sub committee will prepare a report which will be submitted to the full committee to-morrow morning. The general impression is that the committee will at once perfect a deficiency appropriation bill making provision to continue the star service.

California Measures.

Page to-day presented the joint resolution of the California legislature against Leon Chotteau's French commercial treaty project, and had it read at the clerk's desk so as to bring it more prominently to the attention of the house, and secure its incorporation in the Congressional Record. He also presented the legislature resolution asking an appropriation for improvement of Humboldt harbor. Davis introduced a copy of Booth's bill for the relief of Ex Assistant Treasurer Fenton, and also a bill providing for the payment of claims of the Pacific.

ANARCHY IN RUSSIA.

Details of the Winter Palace Explosion—The Nihilists Threaten to Burn St. Petersburg—Ravages of Diphtheria in the Interior.

More Victims of the Explosion.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 23.—Six more soldiers wounded by the explosion in the Winter Palace have died.

Still Another Account.

A later account from St. Petersburg reports that the mine was laid under the guard room of the Winter Palace, which is immediately under the dining hall. Owing to an accidental delay, the imperial family had not entered the latter at the usual time. The explosion made a hole in the floor of the dining hall 10 feet long and 6 wide.

And Still Another.

Alexander of Hess, in a letter to his wife, from St. Petersburg, says: We were proceeding through a large corridor to his majesty's apartment, when suddenly a fearful detonation was heard. The flooring was raised as by an earthquake, the gas extinguished and we were left in total darkness. At the same time a horrible dust and smell of gunpowder or dynamite filled the corridor. Some one shouted that the chandelier had fallen in the saloon where the table was laid for dinner. I hastened thither with the czarowitch and Grand Duke Vladimer, while Count Allerberg, in doubt as to what might happen, held back the emperor. We found all the windows broken and the walls in ruins. The dinner had been delayed for half an hour for my arrival, and it was owing to this circumstance that the imperial family had not got assembled in the dining hall.

Commander of the Palace Arrested.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 22.—It is stated that the commander of the palace has been placed under arrest.

An Awful Threat.

Gen. Gourko, governor general of St. Petersburg, Gen. Drentelin, chief of the imperial police, and Gen. Zouroff, prefect of police of St. Petersburg, have received notices from the nihilist committee informing them that they need not trouble themselves to make arrangements for illuminations on the occasion of the czar's anniversary, as the revolutionists are preparing such an illumination as has not been since Nero burned Rome.

A Radical Measure.

BERLIN, Feb. 23.—It is reported that the czar wishes a state of siege to be proclaimed all over Russia.

Hartmann the Nihilist.

PARIS, Feb. 23.—Hartmann, who is charged with having been connected with the Moscow explosion, has declined to give any information on the subject. He has acknowledged being a nihilist. It is believed that Hartmann will be ultimately ordered to quit the country, and will be shipped to either England or the United States.

The Russian embassy here have received documents with a view to proving the criminality of Hartmann in connection with the Moscow explosion and they will be handed to the French government immediately.

The Clergy and Russia's Political Troubles.

ROME, Feb. 23.—The pope has sent instructions to Catholic bishops in Russia calling upon them to urge the clergy not to mix in political agitations.

The Czar's Palace Service.

ST. PETERSBURG, Feb. 23.—The government has decided to increase the number of house porters who will be expected to be ready to guard against emergencies, especially on the anniversary of the czar's accession to the throne.

The Palace Explosion.

An official messenger announces that the inquiry into the Winter Palace explosion has had the result of rendering it to some extent certain that the crime was committed by a person who passed as a workman, and that there is reason to suspect a connection between this person and some individuals who were arrested previous to the explosion.

Fearful Ravages of Diphtheria in Russia.

VIENNA, Feb. 23.—Diphtheria is raging in central Russia. It carried off last November over 40,000 persons in the provinces of Sharkoff and Paltava alone, and in the neighborhood of Walki whole villages have almost died out.

A BLOW AT THE CHINESE.

Representative Davis Introduces a Bill to Tax the Importation of Starch in all its Forms.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Representative Horace Davis to-day introduced a bill providing that from and after its enactment a customs duty of six cents per pound shall be imposed and collected upon sago and sago flour, tapioca and tapioca flour, arrow root and arrow root flour, and a variety of tapioca root flour, starch, farina, and old starch made of any material whatever or however used. The existing tariff law imposes a duty of one cent a pound and twenty per cent. advalorem on starch made from raw potatoes or corn, and of three cents a pound and twenty per cent. advalorem on starch made from rice or any other material. Sago and sago flour, root flour, farina and tapioca are on the free list. The Chinese now import to California for use in their laundries large quantities of low grade starches under the name of root flour, sago flour, manioc flour, etc., which, although really starches, have, until recently, been admitted free of duty. 1,500,000 pounds of these substances were imported at San Francisco for use in Chinese laundries, and the government assessed duties on the importations, which have been protested, and about 160 suits concerning them are now pending. It is well known that one reason why Chinese compete so successfully with white laundries is, that the Mongolians use poorer and cheaper starch. It will be observed, therefore, that Davis' bill is calculated to subserve the several desirable objects of protecting white labor and our own products, increasing the government revenue, preventing litigation, and helping to make our country a less desirable place of residence for the Chinese.

THE LATTER DAY SAINTS.

Lecture at Chicago by a Mormon Elder—He Denies that Polygamy is a Part of the Mormon Religion.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

CHICAGO, Feb. 23.—Elder Mark N. Forsutt, of the "Reorganized Church of Latter Day Saints of Jesus Christ," preached here yesterday on "The Danites." The Mormons have been holding services here several weeks with a view of organizing a church, and this was Elder Forsutt's seventh sermon. He alluded to the charge which was voiced in a play running at McVicker's, that the Mormons had a society known as "The Danites." He was a Mormon, had lived in Utah, and knew of the Danites; that such a society existed was incontestable, but he could not hold the Mormon church responsible for the crimes the order had undoubtedly committed. He took a very liberal view of Mormonism, and denied that Mormons were polygamists in Nauvoo, or that Joseph Smith taught polygamy. Polygamy was not a part of Mormonism and there had been a time when those who practiced it had been punished therefor by the Mormons themselves. He closed by asking his hearers when they heard attacks on the Mormon church to distinguish between the reorganized church of latter day saints of Jesus Christ of which he was a member and the Utah faction.

Discovery of a Mormon Settlement in Kentucky.

CATLETTSBURG, Feb. 23.—A genuine Mormon colony has been discovered on Big Sandy river, of about fifty persons. Two young men are preaching the doctrine of the latter day saints and making converts.

Salem Statesman: We are informed that Hon. T. W. Davenport has sold his farm, 320 acres, for $12,000. Also that Joseph Matt, living on French Prairie, has sold his farm, 265 acres, for $15,000.

WALLOWA VALLEY.

LOSTINE, Feb. 15, 1880.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

From the numerous letters of inquiry that reach me from Willamette valley, and elsewhere, I judge that information in relation to this locality is largely in demand. As I cannot answer so many inquiries separately and do justice to the subject, I ask permission to reply to all collectively through the columns of your widely circulating paper.

Wallowa valley lies well up in the Blue mountains, in the northeastern part of Union county, fifty miles east of Grand Ronde valley. It extends in a northwest and southeast direction, and is about forty miles in length, with a variable width of from four to to fifteen miles, widening out toward the southern extremity.

The valley, to distinguish the different portions, is divided into lower, middle or Lostine and upper valleys; the latter is, by far, the most extensive. The soil for the most part, is a deep, rich loam, and produces all the cereals and most vegetables in abundance; finer grain fields than I saw here last season are seldom met with, even in the fairest portions of the Willamette.

Like Grand Ronde, this valley is frosty, and tender vegetables, especially along the streams, often fail, though it is astonishing what an amount of frost they will endure without injury, in this climate. Frost is likely to occur, immediately along the streams, every month in the year, but the foothills are comparatively exempt from it and nearly everything succeeds. For

STOCK RAISING

This section cannot be excelled. The hills and prairies are covered with a rank growth of bunch, buffalo and rye grasses which remain green and fresh until late in the season, owing to frequent rains. To the east toward Snake river extends an immense tract of high, rolling prairie, forming a splendid, well watered stock range, most of which is also suitable for cultivation.

TIMBER

Is found along the streams and in the mountains adjacent. It is abundant, convenient, and of the best quality, including fir, pine, tamarack, spruce, cottonwood, etc. The hard woods, such as oak, etc., are seldom found.

The valley is drained by Wallowa river, which takes a northwest course and empties into the Grand Ronde about fifty miles from its mouth. This stream with its numerous tributaries and Wallowa lake, which is a widening of the river in the upper valley, are particularly remarkable for the immense quantity and variety of fish with which they abound, especially red fish, a species peculiar to these waters. No finer fish can be found in the world than the latter, being acknowledged to be superior even to trout.

Not only the disciples of Isaac Walton, but those of Nimrod as well, can find rare sport here, for the forests abound with deer, elk, mountain sheep, brown and black bear, and last but not least, the festive grizzly. Inexperienced hunters are advised, however, to treat the latter with the most profound respect and to avoid as far as possible too great familiarity, as he is somewhat secluded and meditative in his habits and a too hasty intrusion on his solitude may prove highly embarrassing to one unacquainted with the grizzly's eccentric ways.

FRUIT CULTURE.

Too short a time has elapsed since the settling of this valley and too few experiments have been made to prove satisfactorily what kinds of fruit will thrive in this peculiar climate. As to the common small fruits, such as berries, etc., there can be no question, as most of them abound in a wild state and are of the best quality. I see no reason why apples, plums, cherries and other hardy fruits should not succeed as well here as in the Grand Ronde valley, which is equally frosty, and where excellent fruit is raised—if late blooming varities are chosen and the trees kept mulched in the spring, in order to delay the budding as long as possible. Some of the more enterprising settlers have planted orchards and the trees have a thrifty appearance. A small nursery has been started in the upper valley by a gentleman who has had large experience in fruit culture in the northern states, and he sees no serious obstacle in the way of success here. The

POPULATION

Of the valley at present is about 1500, and immigrants are constantly arriving. No other portion of the state, of like extent, has settled up more rapidly and by a more industrious and come-to stay sort of people. There are, at this writing, six school districts, four postoffices, two stores, two saloons (we don't boast of the latter, mind) several blacksmith shops, cooper shops (which supply hundreds of fish barrels during the red-fish season), one chair factory and one sawmill. Our greatest need is a grist mill; at present we depend on Grand Ronde valley for flour and haul it 50 or 60 miles. A flour mill would be a good investment, and it is hoped that some enterprising man will take advantage of the opportunity and erect one in time for next year's crop.

The usual squabble in regard to the location of a town site has already commenced. The upper valley will probably carry the day.

It is gratifying to note the present state of improvements, and then to reflect that less than four years ago Chief Joseph and his dusky warriors pitched their wigwams on the banks of these beautiful streams, claimed the valley as their own and fought for its possession. Who could blame them for fighting for such an Indian paradise? But the unfortunate red man "must go"—must give way before the advancing tide of civilization. The white man wanted this valley, and the Indian, taking a last, long, lingering look at his lost home and hunting grounds was obliged to seek some new and more distant vale, to be again routed as his pale faced brother advances. The

SCENERY

Of Wallowa valley admirably blends the grand, romantic and beautiful, in this respect strikingly resembling some of the larger Alpine vales of Switzerland. The gently undulating prairies to the east, the precipitous chain of snow-capped mountains, with their summits sharply cut against the western sky; the timber-fringed river and creeks; the lovely bottom lands, and that gem of the mountain, Wallowa lake, already recognized as a natural curiosity, and fast becoming a popular resort—all combine to give this valley a beautiful diversity of landscape, which renders it the pride of the settler and the charm of the tourist. But an impartial statement must include

THE DRAWBACKS,

For they are here, and may seem insurmountable to some. This locality is high, the upper valley having an altitude of over 4000 feet; therefore cold winters and late springs will be the rule. Feed must be provided for stock in winter, although most winters are open enough not to require it. Last winter stockmen lost heavily in consequence of deep snow and scarcity of feed. Whether they were made wise enough by that lesson to provide against a repetition of such an experience remains to be seen. Stockmen in Eastern Oregon generally prefer to take the chances. Thus far the present winter but little food has been required, though the weather at times has been extremely cold, and from two to eight inches of snow has covered the ground most of the time.

ITS ISOLATION.

It is fifty miles to Grand Ronde valley and twice that distance to Umatilla, our nearest river landing over a toll road; therefore to market grain from here would be out of the question. It is essentially

A STOCK COUNTRY.

Cattle, horses, hogs and especially dairying would prove amply remunerative. All things considered, the natural advantages are great and far outweigh the drawbacks, and in my humble estimation, no better locality for industrious immigrants seeking government land and pleasant homes can be found than Wallowa valley. LETTER FROM WASHINGTON CITY.

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 9, 1880.

CONGRESSIONAL INACTIVITY.

I never knew congress to be so far behind in its work, and so uninteresting in its labors, as at present. Both parties are cultivating "masterly inactivity," and though shaping a great deal of legislation in the various committees, seem afraid to make any movement in the open field, lest one should gain an advantage over the other. In the main, it cannot be said that congress is in session, but two large executive political committees charged with the special mission that neither shall injure itself before the country.

The senate excuses itself for doing nothing by saying that the house does not lay anything before it for its action. Largely because of its importance, but also largely because no political harm can result therefrom, the house devotes much of its time to the consideration of the revision of the rules. Nearly all its members protest against the tyranny of the committee on appropriations, which has drawn to itself an undue share of the legislative power but are not agreed upon any declaration of independence. Something must be done, for it is intolerable that fifteen members shall really dominate one entire branch of congress. The committee on commerce having succeeded in maintaining its right to frame the river and harbor bill, the committees on agriculture and public buildings, and war and navy and foreign relations claim that to them should belong the power to frame the bills appropriating money for their respective departments. The main objection to this is the fear that zeal for its own department would lead to much larger appropriations than at present. Some change must be effected, for it is becoming physically impossible for any committee to fully understand and properly frame all the appropriations bills.

THE PRESIDENTIAL QUESTION.

This is in fact the only real question before congress. It may be narrowed down to this: Whom will the republicans nominate for the presidency? But little attention is paid by themselves or by others as to whom the democrats will nominate. The only activity on that side is manifested by Tilden, who is quietly healing the breach in New York and who will capture the empty prize from the democratic convention. With great shrewdness he is operating. No open coalition with Tammany. Ignoring Kelly and other Tammany leaders, he is organizing village and ward and neighborhood meetings, where democrats come together, talk kindly over political differences and agree to bury the hatchet. As an organizing genius, Tilden will outrank Aaron Burr or Martin Van Buren.

Thousand are daily expecting to hear of Grant's declination. The say, now that Pennsylvania has put him in nomination, the time has come when he can decline with dignity. Some expect him to withhold his negative until after New York and Illinois have spoken. Cameron really begged his success at Harrisburg, and almost intimated that Grant would decline, and entreated that the Blaine men should not expose his weakness in his own state. Blaine stands in such a position that Cameron cannot, with honor, bitterly and extremely oppose him at Chicago if Grant then be out of the way. Seeing as so many thousands of republicans here admit they see, that Grant would be our weakest candidate, they are expecting that declination which may never come.

It is said that behind Grant is Conkling, and that the former will give no sign until after the New York convention. That convention will be more solidly for Grant than is Pennsylvania, and will work together as a unit. Grant out of the field, it is Conkling's desire to swing the Grant strength in both of these states to himself. He may not hope to obtain the nomination, but, if possible, he will secure such a position that he can control it. He tells Sherman that he prefers him to Blaine, and will not be a marplot if the secretary be nominated. The evident meaning of this is that, believing that the secretary can not succeed, he courts his followers, knowing that from the Blaine men he can expect no favor. Conkling really says: "Not that I hate Sherman less, but Blaine more." If Grant be not a candidate, Blaine steps to the front, and all his rivals, even though they may not be influenced by Conkling's personal dislike, must combine against him. Their first dictate of self preservation points to his destruction. To overthrow him, you will find Cameron, Conkling, Sherman and Washburne working together in temporary harmony. Unless he enters the convention with an undoubted majority of its delegates, he will be defeated. Sherman is not specially unfriendly to Blaine, and if left to his own feelings, would prefer his success to that of Conkling, but to have any hope of victory, he must combine with others to prevent Blaine's nomination on the first ballot, and having thus combined, he must adhere to his allies to the end, even though he brings success to Conkling, Washburne or any other man. If, at the last, he finds himself defrauded, it may be too late to unite with Blaine. Fully one half of the Grant men are for Blaine, but this year, the "machine" will be powerful, and delegates will be operated thereby, so that the popular will will not be heard. With Grant out the way, the American people have really but two candidates—Blaine and Sherman, and are for the former "by a large majority." Unfortunately, except in a very few states, the machine is in the hands of his rivals.

Every day lessens the probabilty of Grant's success even if he openly desires to be a candidate for the nomination. If, without really declining, he had yet not allowed his name to be used, after a few ballots had revealed that no man was in the majority in the national convention, he would be nominated by acclamation. But now, if he go into that convention at all, he goes as any other candidate, and will have no special favor shown to him. Blaine and Sherman will unite against him, and Washburne's influence will secretly help them, and Conkling, if he really has any hopes of the nomination, will not be zealous in his behalf. Washburne's friends are now so active that he can no longer be considered a "dark horse." He has entered the field either as a full-fledged candidate, except as against Grant, or as the waiting expectant of the ex-president's mantle. For months I have not seen the political situation, so mixed, and I have settled down to the conclusion that Windom, Edmunds or Garfield, or some horse even darker than they, will win.

ELECTION BY THE HOUSE.

Virginians say that Malone, the newly-elected senator, will run an electoral ticket to catch everything in Virginia—debt-re-adjusters, republicans, negroes and independents, except the Bourbons, and that he will win. If so, the democrats must secure some other northern states besides New York and Indiana, or the election will go into the house. Of course Virginia will then go democratic. To make the house sure, all the democratic contestants will secure their seats.

LEGISLATION.

Mr. Slater introduced a bill for negotiating with the Indians of Oregon as to extinguishing their title to the reservations now occupied by them and for their removal without your state. A commission will duly appraise the land, but not at less than $1 25 per acre, classifying it as timbered or untimbered land. The lands are to be offered at the local land offices for sale at private entry, but only to actual settlers thereon, in tracts of not exceeding 160 acres, to any one person, with an additional 40 acres of timber, purchasers having three years to pay for the same. If there be any improvements on the lands they must be paid for at the time of entry, and the purchaser must swear that he buys for his own use and occupancy, and not for another. He must prove occupancy for one year, and the cultivation of at least thirty acres, before he can secure his patent. An owner of 160 acres of untimbered land, not within a reservation, may enter 40 acres of timber land within this surrendered reservation at the appraised value thereof. If all the lands be not taken up within two years, they may be purchased in any quantity without settlement. Indians abandoning their tribal relations shall have the first choice, but will get no patent until after three years' residence and cultivation.

If the Indians will not negotiate, then the reservations to be surveyed, and each head of an Indian family shall have 160 acres assigned to him in severalty, and persons not the head of a family, and each minor orphan, 80 acres. I see no provision for advertising the sale thereof, so I suppose first come first served. If so, the La Grande office will witness much excitement, if not tumult, when the Umatilla reservation is thrown open to purchasers.

Your senator, (for Grover is absent so much that you really have but one senator,) also introduced a bill for the relief of B. Jennings.

PERSONAL MATTERS.

Max Baumeister, of Walla Walla, is here doing the capital prior to a visit to his fatherland, determined to return in time to vote for Mr. Brents. I hope Mr. Brents will be sent back, for he is a faithful, hard worker, and no man can fully serve his constituents in that "bear garden," the house of representatives, until he has been here a whole term to learn how to do it. Few things are worse, especially for a young country, than to change its members of congress too frequently.

Whether Hon. Benjamin Simpson and E. S. Kearney shall be called upon for similar mourning over the reappointment of Marshal Waters, I know not. But not if Mr. Slater can help it, for he will earnestly fight Waters, so also the nominee for census supervisor of Oregon.

Lieut. Garvey, well known in Oregon, is here, having returned from a visit to Ireland, and will soon proceed to Camp Bidwell.

Petitions for the retention of Vanter, P. M. at Walla Walla, are being filed, and will secure him in his place. His excuse was, overwork and scarcity of clerks.

Jasper W. Johnson was hauled to the police court on a charge of false swearing in connection with some Mexican claims, but was honorably acquitted. CAPITAL.

SAN FRANCISCO'S GREAT ULCER.

The Condemnation of the Chinese Quarter.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 23.—Regarding the course to be pursued in the condemnation of Chinatown, Dr. Meares, health officer, states that having first fortified himself with advice on certain legal points, the next step will be a careful inspection of Chinatown. Owners of buildings found in such condition as to render them nuisances will be notified to put them in habitable condition. The number of persons allowed to live in any one building will be limited, and it is expected that this will have the effect to so raise individual rents as to compel the Chinese to seek other quarters. It is understood that a number of capitalists are prepared to buy up that quarter of the city if terms can be agreed upon, and devote it to civilized occupancy.

Chinatown on its good Behavior.

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 22.—The six Chinese companies immediately upon receipt of intelligence that the board of health had declared Chinatown a nuisance posted up throughout that quarter a placard of which the following is a translation:

The government has just passed a law declaring Chinatown a nuisance, and our people must beware of it and keep their places in good condition to avoid complaint. There is a strong feeling against our people at the present time and if we do not comply with the law the people will have us punished and fined. If we violate the law we must be punished and fined according to law.

CONGRESSIONAL.

Senate.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 23.

Senator Bayard moved that in respect to the memory of George Washington the senate adjourn.

McDonald announced that he would to-morrow ask a final vote on the pending five per cent. bill.

Bailey gave notice of an amendment admitting free of duty clothing and other contributions from abroad to relieve colored emigrants. Adjourned.

House.

Bills were introduced as follows:

By Coffroth—Organizing a court of pensions to consist of a chief justice and four assistant justices who shall draw an annual salary of $4600 each.

By Kelley—To provide for the introduction and cultivation of the cinchona plant in the United States.

By Muldrow—Placing on the free list paper suitable for books and newspaper.

By Hill—For the appointment of a select joint committee to inquire into the causes of the present grain blockade, and report to congress what legislation can be had to remedy the evil.

By Blackburn—Abolishing the tax on tobacco; also, reducing the tax on distilled spirits to fifty cents on every proof gallon.

By Warner—Establishing a pension commission to consist of six members and to continue for three years.

By Atherton—A resolution calling on the postmaster general for information as to the names of persons in the employment of the postal department who have been fined, and what disposition has been made of those fines.

THE PENITENTIARY AGAIN.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE OREGONIAN:

If your correspondent "Noser"—"Noser, No. 2"—had signed his real name, no other refutation of his perversions and misrepresentations would have been necessary. He says, "Paul Pry" claims that the superintendent of the penitentiary "has turned over to the state treasurer, $7,856 60;" but fails to tell how much of this was collected on old accounts." "Paul Pry," said, "the earnings of the prison (for the year ending Dec. 31, 1879,) which have, we learn, either been turned into the state treasury or satisfactorily accounted for in the quarterly returns as due from contractors for the same period of time, amount to $9,902 01." Of course any one who did not want to misunderstand, would have no difficulty in seeing that this referred only to the earnings of the year 1879, and had no reference to collections of old accounts. "Paul Pry" also said, "for the same period (the year ending Dec. 31, 1879) the expenditures for all purposes amounted to $18,203 49." "Noser"—"Noser, No. 2" says, "but we find on examining Superintendents Burch's and Bush's reports, published in THE OREGONIAN, that warrants have been drawn on the state treasurer from Sept. 1, 1878, to Dec. 1, 1879, for $25,896 76, instead of $18,203 79, as stated by "Paul Pry." "Paul Pry" said for the year ending Dec. 31, 1879. From Sept. 1, 1878, to Dec. 1, 1879, includes fifteen months instead of twelve, and includes the months of September and October, 1878, when Mr. Burch was superintendent, during which two months he drew from the treasury about $6000. As in the matter of the earnings, "Paul Pry" stated the facts, and your other correspondent sought to misrepresent them. The remainder of his statements are falsehoods of like character, not needing the space required for a specific denial, as most persons who read them will detect their author and animus. FOREIGN LANGUAGES IN THE PUBLIC SCHOOLS

A letter from F A on the public schools begins with the inquiry why we have not asked the opinion of the poor as well as the rich on the question of maintaining the high school? The words poor and rich as commonly used and as used by this writer are very indefinite terms No one stops to mark with precision the line that divides the two classes. But let it be said that the man who has a good deal of property has a heavy income from it and pays a large tax is rich while the man who has little property who works for his daily bread and pays little tax is poor Now as matter of fact on this division, we reported the opinion of more poor men than rich men There is a great deal of shallow talk employed in the comparisons or contrasts attempted by many persons between the poor and the rich Both are merely relative terms. Poor people or rich people may be respectable and worthy enough since, fortunately, valuation of character cannot be made to depend either on wealth or on the absence of it. Hence while it is not infamous to be rich, it is as a rule no special merit to be poor These are simple facts which, for correction of an error more or less prevalent, should be occasionally stated. In our public affairs we have no aristocracy of wealth We will not and should not tolerate such a thing. And on the other hand we should not set up an aristocracy of sans-culottism; that is, we should not try to make it a special merit in a man that he is lazy, shiftless—or even unfortunate—and therefore poor But it is asked, "Why shut up the avenues of knowledge to one class of citizens, while we boast so much of equal rights?" The inquiry is pointless, because the avenues of knowledge are not closed against any class, and no one proposes to close them. These avenues, like all others in the affairs of life, are open always to persevering energy, sober economy, and enterprising talents. The public purse gives every one a start in the acquisition of knowledge. His feet are placed in the path, he is started upon the course and shown the way, and he should and must do the rest for himself, with such aid, of course as parents may be able or willing to afford him. But it is said again that "it is a pity when an ambitious and talented youth has to depend on his relatives to finish his education." Why? On whom should he depend? Is it more honorable for him to be a public charge? But the ambitious and talented youth need not depend on anybody to finish his education. When he goes out from the public school, where he has received a good foundation in the elementary studies, he can find means always of working his way through academy and college, if he really is in earnest about it. He need thank nobody for opportunities, since he can create them for himself, and be all the better for the necessity of doing it. But he can't spend his spare time about the streets, or in search of amusements. He must work as we all used to work years ago, and not think it a hardship, nor whine about it. Thus he will acquire the habit of self-dependence, and will develop a strength which will enable him to do whatever he undertakes

"F A" presents a special plea for teaching the German language in the free schools The German, thoroughly acquired, would be valuable to almost any person, for, besides the advantage of speaking the language, a thorough acquaintance with it will open a vast treasury of literature and knowledge But if our youth are to be instructed in any language except their own, the Latin ought to be made the basis of all studies of this description. Its principles are universal, it is the basic language of literature; it is the key to general grammar, and drill in it is a necessity to all who enter upon scientific and literary studies. German is a special though limited advantage with us, except in particular localities, as Cincinnati, where the German population is very large But ours is an English speaking nation. English is the language of our common country; it is the language of our laws and our literature, and should be the language of our common schools. When you travel on the continent of Europe you find indeed certain employes about the hotels, steamers, railway trains and telegraph offices who speak English and other languages, because persons of different nationalities travel there, and such knowledge is necessary to a money-making business. In this there is no argument for giving instruction in foreign languages in our public schools. It is true, that we "long since ceased to be an English colony." But it is likewise true that the English has been and will continue to be the prevailing language of our country And since we are all American citizens, with a nationality of our own, we need not continue and foster distinction of classes and nationalities by giving public instruction in foreign languages. It is not desirable to build up further class distinctions among us by educating our people in classes, according to the nationalities from which they sprang These positions, we believe, will be sustained by the public judgment, including a great majority of those called "poor,"—that is, the class of workers and small taxpayers of the community.

OF "CRAMMING."

In connection with the schools we hear a good deal about "cramming." The new biography of Milton, in Morley's series of "English Men of Letters," supplies some valuable observations on this subject. He is speaking of Milton's famous "Tractate of Education," addressed to Samuel Hartlib This pamphlet, though well known to all persons of general reading, is really of no great worth beyond a sort of autobiographical value that attaches to it. It furnishes a kind of outline which indicates the immense range of Milton's own studies and the sources of his own overwhelming erudition, but its argument is based on the supposition that any one might master and assimilate and make his own these same prodigious stores of learning and erudition which of course would be erroneous in the case of all whose minds were below Milton's in range and power Only a mind like his, of prodigious grasp and of a retentive and assimilative energy almost unequaled in the intellectual history of mankind, could gather so vast a mass of materials and fuse them into new matter to correspond with its own substance and form But there are few Miltons, except perhaps the "mute, inglorious" ones who never reach our public schools. Milton, says the biographer, "saw strongly, as many have done before and since, one weak point in the practice of schools, namely the small result of much time. He fell into the natural error of the inexperienced teacher that of supposing that the remedy was the ingestion of much and diversified intelligible matter It requires much observation of young minds to discover that the rapid inoculation of unassimilated information stupefies the faculties instead of training them" We couldn't have a much better discourse on cramming Short as it is it so well covers the subject that little or nothing is left to be said

A FALSE HOPE

It is [illegible] et was a [illegible] the southern confederacy who since the war has been acting with the republican party Grant gave him an office in New Orleans and this it was alleged was the price of his desertion from the confederate cause as it [illegible] by the democrat party In consequence he was tabooed and ostracised in the south and denounced by the party organs until [illegible] as a shameless renegade He seems not indeed to have committed any great offense than that of acknowledging fairly and fully that the confederate cause and the confederate theory of our government were dead and that the national cause and the national theory as maintained and upheld by those who carried the country victorious through the long war upon both were hereafter to prevail But this was an offense sufficiently heinous to make Longstreet an alien in his own county and he has been in that condition ever since Lately he has made his appearance again as an advocate of the nomination of Grant, on the specious plea that Grant alone can carry certain southern states The plea of course is ridiculous Longstreet may help carry the southern votes for Grant in the Chicago convention but he cannot do anything whatever towards securing him effective help in the south in the election It is nonsense for him to talk about the enthusiasm of the negroes for Grant All their enthusiasm will avail nothing since the democratic managers have the manipulation of the ballot boxes and the counting of the votes No republican will get an electoral vote from any southern state no matter what the popular vote may be

It seems to be an undeniable fact that American women are as a class less lean than formerly and this in spite of the proverbial feminine aversion to obesity It is pointed out by a close observer that our women do not look like they did twenty five or even fifteen years ago and this is more especially true in the large cities where there are more material comforts more ease and more freedom from anxiety and petty cares than there can be in the country This observation, however seems to be confined to the wealthy or well-to-do class. We suspect it would not apply to women among the poorer classes, even in the cities. But among others it is probably true that the pallid complexions, narrow chests and angular figures which formerly were so characteristic of American women are gradually disappearing Ease and good feeding, to say nothing of drinking, which some observers have told has become very prevalent among women in the cities would do that And the same observation might be extended so as to include men as well as women

It has been reported here though erroneously, that there is delay in obtaining rails at the east for the Northern Pacific railroad One report has gone so far as to say that a director had written to some one here that the mills could not furnish the rails, and therefore the division now being graded beyond Snake river could not be built in accordance with the plans heretofore proposed. All statements of this kind are unfounded Four vessels have recently been loaded and dispatched, and three more are just about ready to sail. Others will follow. Not less than eighteen thousand tons of materials will be shipped this year from the east for the construction of the Northern Pacific railroad on the Pacific slope The first vessels should begin to arrive in June

We continue to receive large numbers of verses—called poetry by the writers thereof—which we are asked to print We beg all the poets who are trying to plume their growing wings at the expense of our space and patience to forbear So, let us say once more, that we don't want verses. Give us anything else, but keep the products of the divine afflatus When we want poetry we know where to get it. And besides, we have Tennyson employed by the year under contract to take his whole surplus,—as some of the consumers of paper have engaged to take the whole product of the paper mills

The Chicago convention will be held on Wednesday, June 21. Probably on Thursday, 3d the nominations will be made On the following Monday, June 7th the Oregon election will be held There will be barely time before the election to advise the people of Oregon of the action of the convention In some of the distant localities it is quite likely it will not be known till the election is over

Washburne is in the position of one who is coy but willing The Chicago Staats Zeitung has it from a conversation with him that the positive announcement of the Inter Ocean that he would not be a candidate under any circumstances, means simply that he will not be an active candidate against Grant but that the latter being out of the race, he would not refuse a nomination

Mr. Whiteaker was unable to get the democratic national convention at Eugene City a failure which we much regret Perhaps it was the uncertainty of cipher arrangements and connections with Oregon that led Mr Tilden to crush the ambition of our Oregon city and bestow the convention on a rival town in the remote state of Ohio

TUESDAY MORNING FEB [illegible]

CITY.

ALMOST NO CELEBRATION. Washington [illegible] had been in the flesh [illegible] have been proud of the celebration of his birthday in Portland yesterday. But it was hardly to be expected that much enthusiasm would be manifested, except on the real day and with fair weather. In the afternoon the [illegible], headed by the Northwestern band, paraded through the rain and mud and were [illegible] of all eyes. No business was transacted in the U S courts, nor by the banks, and very little by wholesale merchants. The business at the New Market theater was well attended. "Our Boys" was the play and its rendition faultless. At night the Washington Guards gave a ball at Turn Halle which was well attended. The proceeds will be applied to purchasing an outfit for a new armory.

A NEW HOTEL.—Work has commenced on the new hotel on Fourth street near [illegible] in East Portland which is to be built by Mr. Joseph Burkhardt. Saturday the pile driver was placed in position and yesterday the piles were driven upon which to build the foundation. The piling will be strong and close together. The timbers used in the frame will be heavy and substantially joined. When completed the lower floor will be used for business purposes and the upper one as a hotel. The building will be 50 feet front by 100 feet deep and will be a decided improvement to that portion of the business center.

ATTEMPTED ARSON.—An attempt was made Sunday night to burn Imbrie's school house near West Union, Washington county about [illegible] miles from this city. Kerosene was poured on a lot of stove wood in one corner of the building and the wood fired. It was [illegible] soon during yesterday morning by the teacher when she came to open the school. The tracks had been taken from the house and piled neatly along the fence. The tracks of [illegible] were traced in the snow to the [illegible], and it is believed will lead to the discovery of the incendiaries.

[illegible] OF THE MELVILLE OPERA COMPANY.—Many rumors are afloat concerning the Melville Opera Company as to the cause of their not coming. Manager Maguire received a dispatch very early yesterday which [illegible] doubts of the Melville company being able to fill the present contract with him. [illegible] of this Mr Maguire immediately suspended the issue of any season tickets until he had some more definite news. [illegible] disappointment to a large number [illegible] who were promptly on hand to secure [illegible] seats.

[illegible]—M. F Mulkey deputy district attorney, went up to Salem yesterday to [illegible] the state in the case of the Portland [illegible] Loan and Saving Society, [illegible] appealed to the supreme [illegible] was instituted by the district [illegible] dissolve the corporation on the [illegible] was contrary to the state law [illegible] tried before Judge Bellinger and [illegible] to the supreme court. The argument [illegible] take place to day.

[illegible]—The Northern Pacific [illegible] company are grading between [illegible] and Ainsworth, intending to connect [illegible] named point with the road of [illegible] Co. This piece of road will be [illegible] at an early day, it will [illegible] the first section completed, [illegible] will be necessary for further [illegible]. A ferry will be put in on Snake [illegible].

[illegible] SEATS.—As early as half past seven [illegible] yesterday morning messengers [illegible] in front of Bartsch's music [illegible] seats for the dramatic recital [illegible] evening. By ten o'clock, the time [illegible] about to open, there was a perfect [illegible], and before noon every seat [illegible], except about sixty in the gallery [illegible] reserved.

[illegible] OF COURT.—M. L. Goforth, who [illegible] charge of adultery against Sheriff [illegible] was called upon in the police court [illegible] to answer a charge of contempt of [illegible]. He entered a plea of guilty, and Judge [illegible] in order to teach him a wholesome [illegible] sentenced the defendant to pay a fine [illegible] and committed him to jail for [illegible] days.

[illegible].—The steamer State of California [illegible] the following mail: Ninety four [illegible] paper mail, 30 sacks of which were [illegible], 38 for the Roseburg route, 17 for [illegible] route, 7 for the St Joe route. [illegible] pouches of letter mail were also [illegible]—five for Portland, two for Roseburg [illegible] for Tacoma.

CHURCH SOCIAL.—The ladies of the [illegible] of the Congregational church in [illegible] addition, East Portland, will give [illegible] in the church next Thursday evening [illegible] literary exercises and refreshments [illegible] furnished. The proceeds will be devoted [illegible] purchasing a carpet for the church.

[illegible] PARTY.—Half a hundred of [illegible] of Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Morgan [illegible] at their residence last evening to [illegible] the fifteenth anniversary of their [illegible], following out the tradition by [illegible] a goodly lot of glassware. Several [illegible] were passed in a pleasant social way.

LECTURE.—Rev. M. May will deliver [illegible] at Masonic Hall next Saturday [illegible]. The lecturer will take into consideration the school question, which is now being [illegible] agitated. Dr May's subject will be [illegible] shall Support Higher Education [illegible] free. Public invited.

[illegible].—A grand concert and entertainment will be given next Friday evening at [illegible] M. C. A. hall for the exclusive benefit [illegible] Temperance association. Some [illegible] talent of the city has been secured [illegible] of addresses, singing, quartets, [illegible] piano solos, etc.

[illegible] AND MUSIC ENGAGED.—The committee [illegible] appointed to make arrangements for the [illegible] ball of the Portland Hibernian [illegible] Society, have secured Turn Halle [illegible] evening of March 17th. The Northern [illegible] band has been engaged to furnish [illegible] for the ball.

APPOINTED DEPUTY.—Mr. W. H. Creighton [illegible] recently been appointed a deputy to organize [illegible] for the Independent Order of [illegible] Workmen in Eastern Oregon and [illegible] territory. He will soon start [illegible] new field of labor.

[illegible].—The Alex. Duncan arrived from [illegible] bay and Tillamook at 10 30 last [illegible] is moored at Pacific dock. She [illegible] several passengers and a fair freight [illegible] for northern ports next Saturday [illegible].

IN SERVICE AGAIN.—No 1's engine, which [illegible] out of service for the past week [illegible] boiler tubes cleaned and other [illegible] repairs made, was tested last night and [illegible] to be in perfect working order.

[illegible].—The devotional services of the [illegible] People's association will be held in [illegible] room of the First Baptist church [illegible] at 7:30. Exercises will be conducted by the pastor.

It would seem that the attempt to extort blackmail from Sheriff Dickey was a failure. At least Goforth is of that opinion.

The steamer A. A. McCully is being repaired throughout. The boiler has been lengthened, the cabin made five feet wider, repaired and carpeted.

A gentleman who was down on the Columbia Slough Sunday says that a great many duck hunters were out. He estimated five hunters to one duck.

Great quantities of snow have fallen in the mountains, and now that wise and discreet individual—"the oldest inhabitant"—comes forward and declares that we are to have high water in June.

AMUSEMENTS

THE WILLOW COPSE.—Perhaps the most beautiful domestic drama that was ever composed is that of the "Willow Copse," written by Dion Boucicault in his younger days, before he made a specialty of Irish drama and French sensationalism. It is a most interesting story powerfully placed before the audience in a series of graphic scenes strongly dramatic, of such intense interest that one's attention is wrapt in the plot and development of the play to the end. The character of "Luke Fielding" is very marked and in the hands of Mr. Hill will surely afford a rich treat to those who may witness the performance this evening. Mr. Chaplin will also appear, giving extra strength to the cast. Every bill is now eagerly scanned to see whether Mr. Chaplin's name is there. "He is a tower of strength." It is satisfactory to notice that the business of the theater is perceptibly improving. It would be a poor comment to this city if so superior a company as are now with us were not well patronized.

LOST IN LONDON.—This very interesting domestic drama was witnessed last night by a good, appreciative audience. The roles of Job Armroyd, a rough, loving, forgiving miner, by Mr. Hill, and of Nellie, the sinning, broken-hearted wife, by Miss Adams, were given with wonderful power and pathos, and added no little to the already high reputation of these two sterling actors. The rest of the cast was in excellent hands.

PERSONAL.

Mr. J. F. Pierson, of the San Francisco Alta, is at the Clarendon.

Mrs. Edward Holman is very seriously ill and it is not expected that she can recover.

Gen. J. W. Sprague, of New Tacoma, and Gen. Wm. McMicken, of Olympia, are at the St. Charles.

Gen. J. W. Sprague arrived from Tacoma yesterday. He will start up the river for Ainsworth this morning.

Lieut. E. S. Farrow arrived on the steamer last night from an extended eastern trip, and is registered at the Clarendon.

Mr. T. C. Van Epps, of Olympia, will leave on the State of California, and proceed to Boston to attend the supreme lodge of A. O. U. W. as representative from the Grand Lodge of Oregon and Washington territory.

SUNDAY SCHOOL REPORT

[illegible] report has been kindly furnished by Mr. C. K. Stevens, the secretary and registrar of the Unitarian Sunday school.

[illegible], Feb [illegible], 1880.

To the teachers of the Sunday school and [illegible] of the [illegible]: [illegible] would respectfully submit the following report of the condition of the Sunday school [illegible] from Jan 1 [illegible] to Feb [illegible] 1880 inclusive.

From the [illegible] of the year [illegible] the middle of December of last year the registered number of scholars did not exceed 140 and the average attendance [illegible]. Since then the registered number as well as the attendance has increased very rapidly. The increase in registration was in December [illegible], in January [illegible] and in February [illegible].

The attendance shows an increase from [illegible] in the same period up to the present day. The total increase of the Sunday school since Dec 1, 1879 has been 65. Left the school since that time [illegible], leaving a net increase of [illegible], showing a total registered number of 199.

Several changes have taken place among the teachers. On January 1, 1880 the registered number of teachers was 15; since then three more have been added, making the total number [illegible].

The Bible class, which is not included in the registered number of attendance, averages about 10 each Sunday, the smallest number at end being [illegible] and the largest [illegible].

The infant class shows a marked increase. The smallest number present was on Jan [illegible], 1880, showing [illegible]; the largest on Feb 4, 1880, showing 54; average attendance 31.

The following four scholars have always been present: Charles Burrage, Lucy Shattuck, Susie Stevens, George Keeley. The following five have been absent once on account of sickness: Lena Morgan, Lillie Wood, Dora Eliot, Dexie Woodcock, Nellie Eliot. The following seven have been absent once from various causes besides sickness: Clara Teal, Jas. R. Thompson, Fred Morgan, H. Bismarck Teal, Katie Morris, Nellie Phillips and Willie Stevens.

It is with feeling of gratitude that I can state that the Sunday school has not lost a teacher or scholar by death during the period over which this report extends.

C. K. STEVENS,
Secretary and Registrar.

A CARD

Being informed that quite a number who heard my remarks on yesterday entirely mistook the point I intended to make, I beg leave to state: It was that the combining circumstances surrounding a boy from 12 to 16 years of age has much to do in shaping his future, and stated that the year 1851 was the turning point with the boys spoken of. The elder, coming under the influence of a practical Christian woman, resulted in the entire change of his life; while the younger, leaving home and the influence of two excellent sisters, members of the Presbyterian church, of whom he spoke very kindly, came to Sacramento at a time when the exciting surroundings of that city were anything but favorable for a boy in his 15th year.

In our conversations we often spoke of these things, hence my remarks. As for any disparaging comparisons or idea of self righteousness, it never occurred to me, for the conviction that circumstances have so much to do with our position in life causes me to have naught but feelings of kindness toward all.

I did try to make the impression that Godliness is profitable unto all things, having the promise of the life that now is and that which is to come. Italics my own.

W. C. CHAPPIN

NEWS NOTES FROM THE SOUND

[REGULAR CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

SEATTLE, Feb 21, 1880.

There is still several inches of snow in the woods.

The weather continues very pleasant, with cool sunny days and cold clear nights.

It costs twenty five cents per pound to have supplies packed in to the Skagit mines over the present route. As soon as the trail is completed and pack animals put on, the price will be materially reduced. This reduction, however, cannot be effected until some time during the coming spring, which will be plenty early enough to visit the mines.

A party from Antioch, California, who left here for the Skagit mines a few weeks ago, returned again last evening after having located claims on Canyon creek. Four of the party remained behind to pack in provisions and construct cabins. Those who returned here report four feet of snow on the creek and state that a bridge has been completed across the Skagit at the mouth of Ruby creek, which will prove a great convenience to future travelers. Messrs. Spaulding & Newell of this city are already engaged in constructing their proposed saw mill, a site having been selected at the junction of Canyon and Granite creeks. They expect to be cutting lumber by the 1st of May. Mr. Goodell will soon commence the construction of a new hotel at his place eight miles above the portage. Geo. P. Sawyer, the district recorder, has established his headquarters on Ruby creek. The gentlemen in question report having passed on their way out fifty one men on the trail, sixteen at Goodell's place and sixty four in canoes and batteaux on the river. Besides this number forty six men left here on the steamer Chehalis on Friday last and a large number to-day. Game is very abundant in the vicinity of the mines, particularly deer.

NEWS NOTES FROM EUGENE

[OCCASIONAL CORRESPONDENCE OF THE OREGONIAN.]

A fire last Saturday partially destroyed the residence of Miss Freeman.

Mr. J. B. Underwood has received a very choice lot of grape roots and ornamental shrubbery all the way from Virginia.

Lane county has a very large acreage of very fine fall wheat—most noticeable among the lots are those of Messrs. Rodney Scott, P. Comegys and James Ebberts.

A set debate between Mrs. Duniway of Portland and friends and Mr. Skipworth of Albany, assisted by the best talent of the Laurean Debating society (on "Woman Suffrage") is the next thing of interest.

The good prices obtainable the last year for hops has had a stimulating effect upon the energies of our growers—old yards will be resuscitated and new yards set out. Messrs. Green & Burnesons are the most prominent growers in Oregon, having this year under cultivation thirty acres.

All kinds sewing machine needles to arrive at Barbey's, 32 Yamhill street.

Quinine and Arsenic

Form the basis of many of the Ague remedies in the market, and are the last resort of physicians and people who know no better medicine to employ for this distressing complaint. The effects of either of these drugs are destructive to the system, producing headache, intestinal disorders, vertigo, dizziness, ringing in the ears, and depression of the constitutional health. AYER'S AGUE CURE is a vegetable discovery containing neither quinine, arsenic nor any deleterious ingredient, and is an infallible and rapid cure for every form of Fever and Ague. Its effects are permanent and certain, and no injury can result from its use. Besides being a positive cure for Fever and Ague in all its forms, it is a superior remedy for Liver Complaints. It is an excellent tonic and preventive, as well as cure of all complaints peculiar to malarious, marshy and miasmatic districts. By direct action on the Liver and biliary apparatus, it stimulates the system to a vigorous healthy condition. For sale by all dealers. Hodge, Davis & Co., wholesale agents, Portland.

SUICIDE.

A distinguished scientist once said: "No man with a strong, healthy stomach ever committed suicide," yet many suffer the torments of the damned with dyspepsia when a single bottle of DR. MINTIE'S ENGLISH DANDELION LIVER AND DYSPEPSIA PILLS will give relief, and if persisted in cure the worse case of this distressing trouble. This pill cures torpid liver, biliousness, sallow complexion, foul breath, sick headache, heartburn, pain in side and back, removes pimples from the face, regulates the bowels, is sugar coated and guaranteed purely vegetable. It acts directly on the coating of the stomach and on the liver, is suited to any climate, wet or dry weather. Beware of imitations; genuine has cut of lion on outside wrapper. Price 50 cents. Sold by all druggists. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, wholesale agents.

How to Save Money

Instead of going to a doctor if you have Bright's Disease, Diabetes, pain in back and loins, smarting, inflammation, calculi, brick dust deposit or any trouble of the kidneys or bladder, buy a bottle of DR. MINTIE'S NEPHRETICUM, the great Kidney Compound. It is the best prescription ever compounded for these troubles. Abrams & Carroll, Wholesale Druggists, say: "We regard Nephreticum as the best Kidney and Bladder Remedy in the market." W. [illegible], ward druggist, Portland, Oregon, says: "Everybody speaks highly of it." Childs' druggist [illegible]: "Sold lots of it, it always does the work." Many have been cured of obstinate kidney complaints after the doctors gave them up. Sold by all druggists. Price $1 00 a bottle, or six bottles for $5. Hodge, Davis & Co., Portland, Wholesale Agents.

Sir Astley Cooper's Vital Restorative

The great English remedy—has made more cures of Nervous Debility, Seminal Weakness, Lost Manhood, nocturnal emissions, lassitude, inability for mental labor, despondency, and such diseases as are induced by youthful follies and excesses than all other medicines combined.

[illegible] stimulant nor excitant is permanently safe. [illegible] take is not a quack nostrum, and [illegible] that are wonderful.

[illegible] four times the quantity [illegible] will not disappoint [illegible] wholesale agents.

FREE HIGH SCHOOLS

A [illegible] of the [illegible] language [illegible] [illegible] by a [illegible]

[illegible]

The [illegible] who are thirsty for [illegible] The [illegible] to [illegible] that [illegible] which we [illegible] so much of equal rights. Do we want to create an oligarchy and [illegible] as it used to be?

[illegible] when a talented [illegible] it has to depend upon [illegible] to [illegible] himself [illegible] free schools, [illegible] has always been the object of a certain class of people to monopolize learning in order to keep the lower classes in ignorance [illegible] them to their own advantage with greater facility. [illegible] the ignorant masses that we are sometimes so badly governed.

Then I will [illegible] learning [illegible] who are thirsty for [illegible] possible advantage. I have never heard that a rich man went into bankruptcy on account of paying his school tax. I will not urge the teaching of dead languages; they are a luxury and [illegible] advantage, but the knowledge of the French and in greater degree the German languages are becoming a necessity. One third of our population I dare say is German. We have long ago ceased to be an English colony; we are Americans. The name itself is not English. We are extremely cosmopolitan and have nothing to do with English arrogance. On the continent of Europe, travel where we may—on every steamboat, on every railroad train, at the hotels, telegraph and postoffices and the principal stores—you will find some [illegible] to talk to you in your own language, whatever that may be. In Switzerland and Germany the candidates for public offices or in telegraph offices or on railroads cannot get employment if they do not know at least two foreign languages. How is it here? The other day I had to explain to an official that Munich was the capital of Bavaria and was little more than a village. I don't believe that here in Portland there is a single employee in the postoffice who speaks the German language. Very often if you enter an office—that is if not that of a German company—they tell you: "I am verry sorry sir, but we cannot speak German or French." It is very often the case that talented young men will be in a subordinate position while others will get higher salary because they can converse and correspond in two or three foreign languages. Hear what the president of the Cincinnati board of education (A. C. Sands) has to say about the teaching of the German language:

We teach the German language in our public schools not to please the Germans, but because the majority of citizens who support public schools demand it. It is a language of great benefit in our daily transactions, and the only language extensively used besides the English. Furthermore it is an established fact that those who learn two languages at the same time are more perfect in either one, etc. etc.

This is from the pen of a prominent American school man. Is it reasonable to banish the German language out of public schools because it is a superfluous extra accomplishment? If the pupils of our high school did not get beyond a mere smattering of foreign languages, it is because the teachers thereof have not got beyond it themselves, and teachers more efficient, those who are brought up in the language they teach, ought to be substituted. As I said in the beginning, why not ask the opinion of the less wealthy of our citizens and you will see that they will be in favor of maintaining the high schools at public expense.

THE DEATH RATE OF

Our country is getting to be fearfully alarming, the average of life being lessened every year without any reasonable cause, death resulting generally from the most insignificant origin. At this season of the year especially a cold is such a common thing that in the hurry of every day life we are apt to overlook the dangers attending it and often find too late that a Fever or Lung trouble has set in. Thousands lose their lives in this way every winter, while had Boschee's German Syrup been taken a cure would have resulted and a large bill from a doctor been avoided. For all diseases of the Throat and Lungs Boschee's German Syrup has proven itself to be the greatest discovery of its kind in medicine. Every Druggist in this country will tell you of its wonderful effect. Over 950,000 bottles sold last year without a single failure known.

TEACHERS AND TASK MASTERS

[From Scribner for December

We are sorry for the man who did not have at some period of his childhood or youth one teacher who filled him with the enthusiasm of study and brought him into love with knowledge and into a genuine delight in the use of his intellectual powers one teacher—to state it briefly—who understood his business For, with all the advances made in the theories and methods of education and all the elevation of educational standards it is and remains, true, that the poorest work done in the world is done in the school-room

In the first place there is no competent idea of what education really is, in the average teacher's mind His whole training has misled him, and his own instincts and common sense have in no way corrected his educational influences His work has been the careful and industrious memorizing of the materials of his text-books, and he has no idea of educating others except by the same process He has never been taught, he has simply been tasked He is, consequently a dry man without enthusiasm and without ideas and the work that he does is simply that of a task-master A preacher in order to succeed, must not only be an enthusiast, but he must be profoundly interested in the kind of material that comes to his hand to be molded and influenced, and in the processes through which he acts upon it. He exercises all the ingenuities of address and handling to win attention, and is never satisfied until he has awakened a profound interest in the topics that engage his effort Every live preacher has his own way of work and accounts it a misfortune to find himself lapsing into the mere mechanisms of his profession. So unlike him is the average teacher that a pupil is always surprised to find him an interesting person, who gets outside of his mechanical routine of duty A teacher's duty, as it is commonly understood, is to keep order and hear recitations. Beyond this, he is to mark progress in education, as he most incompetently understands it, by arithmetical formulæ Nothing more uninteresting and mechanical can be imagined than the usual routine of school.

Parents often wonder why their children are not interested in their studies Why! in the way in which their studies are conducted, it is quite impossible that they should be interested. The marvel is that they have sufficient interest in their tasks to pursue them at all. Machine education is no more interesting than machine preaching It is simply a long, dry grind, which children are glad to get through with, and upon which they look back with anything but pleasure and satisfaction

The ordinary teacher will naturally inquire, what we would have It is very hard to tell an incompetent man what he cannot himself see, of the requirements of his own calling; but we have a very definite idea of what we desire and of what we believe to be needed. In the first place, no pupil should ever undertake a study to which he has not been properly and competently introduced. The nature of the study, its relation to all other study and to life, the proper methods of pursuing it, the literature connected with it, all these should be presented and explained in such a way that a pupil on beginning has some idea of what he is undertaking, and the reasons for his undertaking it. Then, from first to last, the educator is to remember that he is less a task-master than a teacher, and that if his pupils do not get along well, it is mainly his fault. If they have been properly introduced to the study, and their way into it has been made interesting by his intelligent and enthusiastic leading, they will be interested; otherwise, not. We have known pupils to go through years of study in the [illegible] without understanding anything as they ought to do, and, at last, to bring their study to a most fruitless and unsatisfactory termination, simply because they had a teacher who regarded himself as only a task-master, and would never take the time and pains to teach them and make the steps of their progress plain. No man is fit to teach who will leave a pupil floundering through a study for the want of intelligent help and direction. It is a teacher's business to teach; and not to leave his pupils to find out what they can themselves, and hold them responsible for their own instruction. Education is not the result of memorizing facts, nor wholly of understanding and arranging them, of course, but so long as we study text-books, and periodically record our progress by means of them, there is no such inspirer as an intelligent, sympathetic and enthusiastic teacher.

The public have not held teachers to their true responsibility. We send a young lad or a young girl to school, and find that, while we are paying out a great deal of money for them, they are gaining nothing. We complain, and are informed that our children are not industrious, that they do not seem interested in their studies, that they are absorbed in play, etc., etc. In ninety-nine cases in a hundred, our disappointment is entirely the fault of the teacher. He or she is simply incompetent for the duty they have undertaken A first-class teacher always has good pupils. Lack of interest in study is always the result of poor teaching. We send a boy to college, and find that he regards his studies as a grind, and that he is always interested in getting good marks, and that he is getting scholarly tastes, and winning no scholarly delights. We inquire, and find him in the hands of a young man, without experience, who really pretends to be no more than a task-master, and who knows nothing, and seems to care nothing, about the office of teaching. The placing of large masses of young men in the hands of inexperienced persons, who do not pretend to do more than to set tasks and record the manner in which they are performed, without guidance or assistance, is a gross imposition of the college upon a trusting public, and it is high time that an outcry so determined and persistent is raised against it that it shall procure a reform,

GOV. FOSTER OF OHIO.

How he Views the Action of the Pennsylvania Convention.

[Interview in Cincinnati Commercial]

"What do you think of the action of the Pennsylvania convention yesterday, and how will it effect Grant's chances?"

"I deem it a great mistake upon the part of Grant's friends. It does not do to force such matters. It is perfectly clear to my mind that the large majority of the masses of the people in that state do not favor the nomination of Gen. Grant. His friends depend very largely for their success upon the delegations from the two cities of Philadelphia and Pittsburgh, and delegations of that kind are generally very easy controlled in conventions by those having them in charge, Yes, it is perfectly clear to my mind that Grant's friend are in the minority in Pennsylvania."

"But governor, do you suppose Grant knew that this was to be done, and he is really a candidate for the nomination?"

"There is not a bit of doubt about his having been a candidate all along!"

"How will it effect Grant's chances in New York, governor?"

"It is very probable that the convention there will be manipulated for Grant, just as it was in Pennsylvania."

"Wel: in that event and with Illinois, do you think he can pick up enough southern delegations to give him the nomination?"

"It is possible, but hardly probable As I have said before, it is clear to me that the majority of the republicans in Pennsylvania and the nation do not want to see Gen Grant receive the third nomination "

Grant and the South

Ex-Congressman Rainey (colored) of South Carolina, is opposed to the election of Gen Grant for a third term. He thinks the colored race in the south have nothing to hope from him. He was in Boston recently, and while there made a speech to the 'Massachusetts Club" The substance of his remark is thus reported in the Boston papers:

The speaker said he had written to some of the most prominent politicians in the south to ask the reason why they should be in favor of Gen. Grant,—a man who, when he went into power found a republican Congress a republican south and the better part of the northern states republican When he went out of power there was not a single republican state in the south Congress was democratic and the northern states divided He permitted the state of Mississippi to be taken out of the hands of the republicans [illegible] the hope of forty thousand majority with [illegible] his duty would have [illegible] the people [illegible] his utmost to keep the republican party in the south Under his administration the democratic party came into power starting in human blood taking the [illegible] men and [illegible] the states of the country these men made up their minds that what they could not gain by fighting they would gain by legislation It is [illegible] minority rule in the south It is the minority who are in power because they have the education wealth and intelligence They have all the machinery of the government in their hands

Tariff Revision Demanded

From the New York Times.

The time is unquestionably near if it is not already arrived when the advocates of the present tariff must prepare to take the defensive, and when they will not be allowed to select the points at which they shall be attacked The tariff policy of the last twenty years, which has built up our grand system of manufactures "as the republicans of Pennsylvania say is felt to include many provisions that hamper American trade and industry, and those provisions will be constantly more and more vigorously assailed Even from the protectionist stand point they are indefensible They have been in existence nearly twenty years If they have really "built up" a "grand system of manufactures they have served the purpose for which they were temporarily imposed, and ought to be gradually done away with If they have not yet served that purpose, they are an expensive failure, which the American people is entitled to abandon as soon as it can do so without unnecessary injury to the interests for which protection has been accorded Protestants and Non-Catholics.

[From the New York Freeman's Journal (Cath)]

The principal fight in our time between Christ and Anti-Christ, between the Catholic Church and all opposed to her, is for the possession of the training for the young They who are making this training, instruction, education, carefully, and altogether religious are on the side of the Vicar of Christ, and of the church of which he is the Teaching Head Those that teach otherwise —or practice otherwise—not daring to avow their false opinions—are, in the most perfect definition of the term, Protestants We do not call Protestants, the Catholic church Those of this class almost without exception, have been taught no Catechism, have no positive notions about religion—except the indelible tradition that God is and that duties are owing to him These we call—not 'Protestants—what they protest against?, but non-Catholics! Protestants are those clerics or lay people who, calling themselves Catholics, resist or dispute the teachings of the Church Catholic

The Chicago Times strongly endorses Hon E. B. Washburne for the presidency The Times argues that the feeling in his favor has every element of spontaneity, and has not been promoted by any ring or combination but is the recognition of admitted fitness, that, while he would be an exceptionally strong candidate at the west, he would be as strong as any other man that could be chosen at the east, and that one peculiarity of his candidacy would be its strength in certain so-called doubtful states, where it is well known the German-speaking electors hold the "balance of power" between parties But the Times does not promise to support Mr Washburne should he be nominated, but merely advises republicans from an independent standpoint

Whose Church—Christ's or the Ministers.

[From the Boston Congregationalist (Cong)]

Some churches gather around a man, and therefore reflect all the moods and caprices of the man And when the man is separated from them by removal or death, they show little cohesive power Other churches gather around a principle—a principle which finds its incarnation in Jesus Christ. This one is the Rev Mr "Such-an-one's" church, the other is a church of Christ The latter is stable, Scriptural, men can come and men may go, but it holds well and efficiently together, for the cohesive power of the Saviour's blood and the Saviour's love is eternal. Whose church is the one to which you belong?

A Long Dream of Love.

[From the Cattaraugus Union]

The town of Randolph has been the scene of a romance which, in point of faithfulness on the part of the woman is equal to that of Longfellow's 'Evangeline" Miss Betsey Knight, who passed from this life a few days ago at the advanced aged of eighty-five years, was in her girlhood bethrothed to a young man living in Ohio, and shortly before the day set for the nuptials he was taken suddenly ill and died. Miss Knight, on hearing the news, refused to believe it, and has remained faithful to him all these years in vain hope that he would return and claim her as his own

THE NORTHWEST.

Southern Oregon.

A steam saw mill will be built at Jacksonville.

A little son of John Orth of Jacksonville, was severely bitten by a dog last week

Mrs Barke, a woman revivalist, successfully conducted a 'protracted meeting" on Wagner creek recently, making a number of converts.

The Ashland woolen mills will consume 100,000 pounds of wool this year against 30-000 last season. James Thornton is now superintendent.

Two feet of new snow lies on the Siskiyou mountain, which is interfering somewhat with the stages It required 11 hours one day last week to make 25 miles

The Ashland Tidings says two men in the mountains near Langell valley, who have been saving hay for three years, are now feeding stock, for which they are to receive one head out of every five in the spring—a pretty good price.

Panthers and other wild animals have been driven out of the mountains by the deep snow and are pestering stockraisers more than usual Coyotes may easily be heard here at night, evidently ranging quite near the outskirts of town

Jacksonville paper It is feared that some of the wheat that has been sown will be frozen and resowing necessary Farmers are speeding the plow whenever possible and have made some progress during the past week The weather is unfavorable for expeditious operations, however and we fear a short acreage will be the result

Jacksonville Times Some of the hydraulic claims are in operation but others are not Little has been done at the Sterling mine so far Chappel Eckelson & Co Gin Lin and the Centennial Company, near Willow Springs have been more fortunate Should the cold weather ever cease all hands will soon be at work A little sunshine would furnish enough water for all practical purposes

Jackson county has almost as many stills as the balance of the counties in the state put together Several thousand gallons of whisky of a good quality are manufactured annually for which there is a ready market The cold weather has interfered with operations so that the supply is not equal to the demand now Apples are used principally in the manufacture, but some of the distillers will next season try peaches and other suitable fruit

Eastern Oregon.

It is proposed to build a telegraph line from Pendleton to Umatilla

The money drawer of Lehman Blum's store at Pendleton was burglarized

Two spans of fine horses owned by Dr McKay and Mr Jenkins of Umatilla county died recently from eating bran upon which sheep dip had fallen

Pendleton Independent The superintendent of the O S N Co says that the jam of freight which occurred last year can never by any possibility occur again We fear that he underrates the producing capacity of our country, for this is liable to occur next year and probably for several years to come for our producing capacity is constantly increasing.

From Linkville Stock have begun to die in earnest Bybee living on Tule lake thirty miles from here has already lost half of his Carr on Clear lake fifty miles from here has lost some $8000 or $10 000 worth of fine cattle All cattle men will lose from 50 to [illegible] per cent Many who have hay cannot save their stock as they are not fixed for feeding Those that do not need feed get [illegible] because they can contend for it Some hay stacks are entirely covered with snow drifts Horses seem to fare very well Many good judges of such matters say that stock that is not fed at all looks better than that fed The trouble is that feeding has been going on since January [illegible] the cattle rely entirely upon this and will not browse

Yellow Fever Blackburn

The following resolutions were introduced by a member of the Kentucky legislature a few days ago

WHEREAS The Louisville [illegible] of the chief organ of the [illegible] democracy of Kentucky [illegible] admits what Dr Luke P Blackburn does not deign to deny—to wit that the Canada Bermuda and Havana Blackburn and the present governor of Kentucky are one and the same person and

WHEREAS Civilized man justly considers any attempt to spread wasting diseases in the camp of an enemy as horrible and brutal in the extreme and

WHEREAS The serious character of deliberately planning and dastardly attempting the destruction not only of armies but whole communities of innocent women and children by clandestinely collecting yellow fever and small pox virus from dying patients for the purpose of accomplishing wholesale slaughter of citizens of the United States therefore

Resolved That the fair fame of Kentucky demands a prompt and emphatic denial or a frank thorough and satisfactory explanation of this whole matter in order to remove this stain of infamy on the reputation of Kentucky

The speaker decided the resolutions out of order The mover appealed from the decision of the chair the speaker came on the floor and defended his ruling and the house laid the appeal on the table They do not want Governor Blackburn's infamous plot proven on him

Blaine and Pennsylvania

[Washington special to Cincinnati Gazette]

Senator Blaine's friends strange to say are almost as well pleased over the result in Pennsylvania as their opponents They pronounce it a barren victory They declare that after all the boasts made by Cameron and the exhaustion of all his power strength and influence to succeed by the slim majority of twenty votes is virtually equivalent to defeat Respecting the effect upon the country they believe that it will be highly detrimental to Grant, because it will show that even in a state where he was championed by leaders whose control over the organization is almost omnipotent the ex president barely squeezed through Senator Blaine himself did not appear at all discomfited by the event

EASTERN FREIGHTS.

[SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE OREGONIAN]

NEW YORK Feb 21.—There is no material change to note in the clipper freight market, and prospects are that there will be a continuance of the present dullness for some time forward The bark C O Whitemore is nearly loaded and will sail in a day or two The ship St. Nicholas will fill in all next week Rates are irregular on a basis of $8@10 per ton for dead weight, though it is probable that better figures could be obtained for round lots.

Isthmus freights have been very active and to day a departure has a full cargo for the California market.

As yet the Pacific Mail Company have not issued their tariff to compete with the Pacific railroad and the impression is very strong that it will not be issued

Freights a Boston are very quiet yet the agent of the McLaren expects to get her off by the close of the month

At Philadelphia California freights are dull The Red Cloud is the most advanced ship and her agents expect to get her off by the end of the ensuing week

IN THE TREATMENT OF ALL

CHRONIC AND DIFFICULT DISEASES.

DR. BRENNAN WILL GUARANTEE TO CURE any form of disease of the generative organs or private disease

He has become an expert in the treatment of disease weakness and derangement of the reproductive organs of both male and female including diseases caused by the

FOLLIES OF YOUTH,

Such as SPERMATORRHEA or SEMINAL WEAKNESS or LOSS OF PERFECT VITALITY Nearly two thirds of all the Chronic Diseases spring either directly or indirectly from some derangement of the sexual system and yet this subject is neglected by the majority of the Medical Profession

I know that persons who are unfortunate enough to be afflicted by any form of sexual disease have a delicacy in calling upon the proper physician in time from a sense of modesty and sometimes from ignorance and permit these diseases to exist until their constitutions become corrupted their organization broken down and the hope of future happiness blighted until death becomes a welcome messenger to carry them out of their miserable existence

Everything strictly confidential under all circumstances.

LIVER PILLS,

Hepatitis or Liver Complaint,

DYSPEPSIA AND SICK HEADACHE

Symptoms of a Diseased Liver

PAIN in the right side, under the edge of the ribs, increases on pressure, sometimes the pain is in the left side, the patient is rarely able to lie on the left side sometimes the pain is felt under the shoulder blade, and it frequently extends to the top of the shoulder, and is sometimes mistaken for rheumatism in the arm The stomach is affected with loss of appetite and sickness, the bowels in general are costive, sometimes alternative with lax, the head is troubled with pain, accompanied with a dull, heavy sensation in the back part There is generally a considerable loss of memory, accompanied with a painful sensation of having left undone something which ought to have been done. A slight dry cough is sometimes an attendant The patient complains of weariness and debility he is easily startled his feet are cold or burning, and he complains of a prickly sensation of the skin, his spirits are low, and although he is satisfied that exercise would be beneficial to him, yet he can scarcely summon up fortitude enough to try it In fact, he distrusts every remedy Several of the above symptoms attend the disease, but cases have occurred where few of them existed, yet examination of the body, after death, has shown the LIVER to have been extensively deranged

AGUE AND FEVER

DR C McLANE'S LIVER PILLS, IN CASES OF AGUE AND FEVER, when taken with Quinine are productive of the most happy results No better cathartic can be used, preparatory to, or after taking Quinine We would advise all who are afflicted with this disease to give them a FAIR TRIAL

For all bilious derangements, and as a simple purgative, they are unequaled

LANDS,

PEN D'OREILLE DIVISION

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC RAILROAD COMPANY

Is now offering for sale nearly

5,000,000

Acres of its lands in the Pen d Oreille Division in Eastern Washington which are comprised in the odd numbered sections for forty miles on each side of the railroad as now located from the mouth of Snake River in Washington Territory, to Lake Pen d'Oreille in Idaho These lands of unexcelled fertility and adapted to farming on any scale that may be desired are offered by the Railroad Company at such prices and terms as cannot fail to induce settlement and cultivation causing a rapid growth in population of the country, and increase in value to those who now purchase

The following Resolution of the Board of Directors of the Railroad Company passed November 19th 1879 fixes the cash price of land to actual settlers at two dollars and sixty cents per acre which it is believed is a lower price than has ever been voluntarily placed upon its lands by any land grant company This is in fact, cheaper than the settler can purchase the same class of land of the Government under the pre-emption law for the expense attending the making of final proof, and the journey to the land office which he must necessarily make in order to complete his entry is more than the ten cents per acre added to the government price by the Railroad Company

Resolved That the Agricultural Lands of the Company west of the Missouri river to Puget Sound shall be offered for sale to actual settlers at Government price of $2 50 per acre with an addition thereto of ten cents per acre to be paid to the Company to reimburse it for the cost of selecting surveying and conveying said land.

This resolution does not apply to coal or iron lands nor to lands chiefly valuable for timber, nor to lands required for town sites or suitable for manufacturing sites nor in regions where water is scarce to lands containing springs or other natural supply where it shall be for the interest of settlers at large that such water privileges shall not be exclusively held or controlled by any individual nor to the lands required for the use of the Company in connection with the operation of the road

To persons wishing to purchase on time the remarkably low price of four dollars per acre is given on the following terms One fourth cash at time of purchase the balance in four equal yearly payments at 7 per cent. interest. The above price for time sales is adopted for the present, but may be subject to change in the future.

All persons who have filed with the Railroad Company notices of intention to purchase or Settlers Applications as they are called for land in this Division (except for the class of lands reserved by the terms of the resolution above given) and who have continued to reside upon or cultivate the land applied for, are requested to complete their purchase by making cash payment or time contract for the same For this purpose application should be made to the Railroad Land Office at Colfax.

Persons who have not made actual settlement or improvement upon land they may have applied for have no right to the first privilege of purchase such lands will be sold to the first applicant. Those persons who have in good faith settled upon and improved the Company's land should lose no time in securing the same, as after a given time the land is subject to sale to any other person

The land in this division being now offered for sale, no more Settlers Applications will be filed
